

AT THE PUFFIN CULTURAL FORUM

NATURE PHOTOGRAPHY EXHIBITION – GROUP SHOW

including work by Steve Gentile

Opening Reception • Saturday, June 27 • 8:00 pm

The Teaneck Creek Conservancy and The Puffin Cultural Forum present selected photographs from the Puffin's 2008-2009 "Art of Nature Photography" workshops led by Rachel Banai. Steve Gentile is honored to have his work included in this show. Please join me at the opening reception!

"For many years, the Teaneck Creek was the site of discarded man-made materials – tires, vehicles, construction materials. I became fascinated by the sculptural beauty of this legendary stuff and how it, like the nature around it, marked the timeline of our progress and development – past, present, and future. My photographs depart from the normal and expected in a nature conservancy – the flora and fauna which are abundant and beautiful. Instead, I chose to capture the "natural" state of these discarded materials in their current state of decay and how they also mirror their own beauty and passing of time in their "natural" surroundings.
